Black Friday, sorted.

Save Genie, the free price tracker and wishlist app for iPhone, iPad and Mac, is out now in New Zealand. Make your Black Friday list today, and let Save Genie watch the prices for you.

MELBOURNE, Australia, 20 October 2026: Save Genie launched today in New Zealand, one of five launch countries alongside the US, Canada, the UK and Australia. It keeps the things you want from almost any online store in one list, then watches their prices for you. When a price drops or an item comes back in stock, you get an alert, and where it can, Save Genie shows you when it's cheaper at another store.

With Black Friday on Friday 27 November and Cyber Monday on 30 November, the advice is simple: start your list now. Add what you actually want over the next five weeks, from The Warehouse, Mighty Ape and Noel Leeming to your favourite small boutique, and when the sales arrive, Save Genie tells you when a price drops, without you refreshing a single tab. The same list keeps working into the Boxing Day sales.

Save Genie is free on iPhone, iPad and Mac, with up to 15 tracked products, price drop alerts, and as many collections as you like. Collections can be shared: build a list together, or share a wishlist so friends can buy for you while what they buy stays a surprise. An optional Premium subscription takes the limits and ads away and adds Home Screen widgets.

> "Black Friday is the one week of the year when nearly everyone shops with a plan, or wishes they had one. Save Genie is that plan. Start your list now, and when the sales arrive, you'll know exactly when to buy."

1

Save it

Tap Share in Safari or a store's app, or paste a link. Save Genie picks up the product, its price and photo.

2

Genie watches

Save Genie checks your saved items periodically in the background and, where it can, shows you when it's cheaper at another store. Want to know sooner? Open the app to check prices in real time.

3

Get the alert

When a price drops or an item is back in stock, you'll get a push notification.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

When should I start my Black Friday list?

Now. Save Genie checks everything on your list periodically from the day you add it, so come Black Friday on 27 November you'll get an alert when a price drops.

Which stores does it work with?

Most online stores, from The Warehouse, Mighty Ape and Trade Me to Kathmandu, Noel Leeming and Briscoes. A few stores block automated price checks; when Genie can't read a price it says so, and you can add the details yourself.

Is it free?

Yes, on iPhone, iPad and Mac: up to 15 tracked products with alerts, up to 3 new items a day, and unlimited collections. The free version shows ads on iPhone and iPad.

What does Premium add, and what does it cost?

Unlimited tracking, no ads and Home Screen widgets. The price is shown in New Zealand dollars in the app before you subscribe, and the free plan stays free.

Can I share a list with family and friends?

Yes, two ways. Build together: everyone adds and reacts. My wishlist: friends shop for you, and what they buy stays hidden from you, so a gift stays a surprise.

What about privacy?

You sign in with Sign in with Apple, so there's no new password. You can delete your account and all its data at any time from inside the app.
